Overview: This modification is being issued to ensure that the terms and conditions of this contract are fully compliant with the FAR and GSA policy.

Within 60 days of acceptance of this bilateral modification -

- The contractor shall utilize the template in eMod (<http://eoffer.gsa.gov>) to submit ALL awarded products and associated descriptive product data, to include Manufacturer Part Number (MPN) and Universal Product Code Type A (UPC-A) data (when applicable). Unaltered MPN data is required for all awarded products. UPC-A data is required for all awarded products for which this information is commercially available (GSA performed market research to determine the Federal Supply Schedules and Special Item Numbers under which UPC-A data is commercially available - a complete listing can be viewed at <http://eoffer.gsa.gov>). All descriptive elements currently required by the Schedules Input Program (SIP) will be captured in a single submission via eMod and uploaded to GSA Advantage! to become the contractor's Authorized Federal Supply Schedule Price List upon execution of the modification.
- Contractors with awarded services shall utilize the Services Text File Template to prepare and upload to eMod a new services text file that includes ALL awarded services and associated descriptive data. This text file will be transferred to GSA Advantage! upon execution of the modification and will become the contractor's Authorized Federal Supply Schedule Price List.

The contractor shall only submit products and services currently awarded under this Schedule contract - NO NEW ITEMS ARE ALLOWED during the initial baselining. Any awarded products and services not included in the rebaseline submission will be considered deleted from this contract. Only awarded products and services submitted with all required descriptive information will be visible within GSA's customer-facing eTools (GSA Advantage!, GSA eLibrary, eBuy, etc.).

Upon acceptance of this bilateral modification, the contractor should proceed to eMod to begin the rebaseline process. For all future modifications, descriptive data will be captured and updated directly via eMod and then automatically uploaded to GSA Advantage! upon execution of the modification. .

Contractors should continue to utilize SIP for price list updates until their rebaseline modification has been executed by the Contracting Officer.

This one-time "rebaselining" of price list data will ensure that GSA has all awarded products under a vendor's contract uploaded to GSA Advantage!, the associated metadata needed to properly display these items on GSA eLibrary and GSA eBuy. For details, reference Federal Register Notice "Modernizing the Federal Supply Schedule Program: Standardization of Part Number Data" (Notice-FAS-2015-01), dated May 13, 2015.

Failure to complete the rebaseline process within 60 days may result in deletion of your Authorized Federal Supply Schedule Price List from GSA Advantage!. GSA may also consider noncompliance with this modification when determining whether to exercise your next contract option period, i.e., GSA may choose not to exercise the next option period, thereby allowing the contract to expire.
